Dear Lu -

3-4-62

I am hoping not to travel this summer, (for a change) and would make no firm commitment on it now. But might I take advantage of a last minute change of heart? Early October would be the nearest congenial date personally.

As re 3. would you consider some emphasis on typing in neuronal surface, to help try to educate neurobiologists on first principles, and v.v.? But I am not sure just whom to suggest besides Kalckar: John Cummings (London)? Sjöstrand? Finean? The latter two would also have much to write about on more general problems of ultrastructure.

Anyhow, I would appreciate keeping informed.

Cordially, John.

What are your Japan plans? We will be there April 6 - May 20.

J.
