Dear Josh and Esther,

We seemed to have slipped into another world here. Busy seeing family and friends and getting wet in the rain. Manchester looks as grimy as ever though somewhat more prosperous with a surprising number of new cars on the roads. Last week we were in Cambridge looking around the dept. and sorting out our personal belongings. It is as beautiful as ever but judging from Thorley's and Ashby's comments the administration has not changed! There is no bitter feeling about my departure at all, every if anything! Bruce Stocker is on holiday now so we plan to see him just before we come back. I go to Cambridge again next week before going to the Hague Congress.

I was pleased to hear about the money Conference and have written a letter of congratulations to Neal.

Best wishes,
