Dear Joshua,

I am very sorry that you will not come to Harvard. But I can understand your desire to remain in an environment where you are already content - I am sure, however, that if you do have a change of heart that something both definite and good can be arranged here. You probably know that Cy Levinthal is coming to MIT - so with Bernie Dains, the outlook for microbiology seems good. Nevertheless this department must soon find someone to teach microbiology in Harvard College - It is remarkable how few good people there are to choose among.

Again I am very sorry that you will not come my best regards to Esta
