BW threat potentials

I met with Peter Bahnsen and John Pennella at the Pentagon today and was very glad to get your name.

This mailing is to introduce myself in hopes of establishing my bona fides for further conversations on how to forestall the awful prospects of BW being popularized. I am at my wits' ends re what to do; but at the very least more robust civil defense might help forestall the successful terrorist attack, that then triggers endless successors.

May I call you next week to initiate further conversation?

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
