

BOARD OF EDUCATION
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK
BUREAU OF AUDIO-VISUAL INSTRUCTION
131 LIVINGSTON STREET, BROOKLYN 1, N. Y.
EDWARD G. BERNARD, Director

Ed Bernard

November 25, 1958.

Dr. Joshua Lederberg,
Dept. of Medical Genetics,
School of Medicine,
University of Wisconsin,
Madison 6, Wisconsin.

Dear Josh,

gfb

I have delayed in sending these papers to you because I was hoping to have them duplicated in our office. However, this is budget making time and our machines are all working more than overtime, so I won't wait any longer. I was particularly interested in learning that Tony Iannone is a neurologist, since I remember him with particular affection for the fun we used to have on our frequent hikes with the Bio Club. If you can give me his address I would like to get in touch with him. All of the fellows that you mentioned bring back memories of days that probably were the happiest in my career. The time that I devoted to the boys in the many extra-curricular programs that I sponsored was the best investment in learning that I ever made. It is amazing how many of these club members have continued their devotion to science and have made outstanding contributions to their fields. Did you know Bob Bowman when you were in the club? He is presently Chief of the Technical Development section of the Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md., where the "hot" work they are doing is in gas chromatography. He expects some exciting results in this expanding branch of research.

I have read your reprint of "Genetic Transduction" which was lucid enough so that even I could understand it. If you should have other reprints handy I would appreciate receiving them (I'm addicted to building up a file of

BOARD OF EDUCATION
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK
BUREAU OF AUDIO-VISUAL INSTRUCTION
131 LIVINGSTON STREET, BROOKLYN 1, N. Y.
EDWARD G. BERNARD, Director

the research reports of my former pupils.)

All of the men at Stuyvesant ,it goes without saying, are proud of your achievements. Mr. Tolle, Mr. Penzer, and Mr. Towne send their warm greetings to you. Mr. Weinberger is no longer at Stuyvesant, but I met him recently and he too sends his respects.

With my best good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Jerry A. Schur
AV Supervisor,
"600" Schools.