Dear Norm –

Thank you for the invitation. We are looking forward to the occasion. May I provisionally accept for March 8? I should know by next year whether there is any unforeseen conflict, and if you don't hear otherwise it should stick. I hope Beets will be around to at that time; if not, March 11 would probably does well (for me).

Can we leave the title open? I would probably prefer to talk about bacterial genetics, but if anything hot should develop say at Nice (at the Cospar symposium in January) do you think exobiology would be appropriate? It may be optimistic in thinking anything both new and concrete is likely to happen in either field before then.

as ever

Joshua
