Memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG
APR 16 1973

To: Prof Jacob Marschak
Econ.
UCLA.

Economics of Information

Dear Prof. Marschak

I was pleasured by your Ely lecture to augment my education with respect to welfare economics (health research) and was surprised to see the intersection of our interest in "artificial intelligence".

But this is to ask you for reprints of those of your papers, including your Ely lecture, that you might be concerned for my edification.

To illustrate how badly I may need them, I enclose a few examples of vagrant thoughts to date.

Sincerely

J.L.

PROFESSOR JOSHUA LEDERBERG
Department of Genetics
School of Medicine
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305

see envelope