Dear Josh:

I passed on your inquiry concerning epoxide hydrase to Allan Conney and the enclosed letter and reprints will supplement the review which I sent you last week. I imagine the question with respect to the "good" or "bad" of high levels of epoxide hydrase is going to be analogous to the same question relating to cytochrome P-450 - it must all depend on the substrate and the biological properties of the metabolites produced.

✓ I have invited Allan to give one of the Hospital Seminars in Medicine on May 21st at 11 a.m.; perhaps you can mark it on your calendar if you are free.

Yours sincerely,

Attallah Kappas, M.D.
