May 29, 1990

Dear Lederberg,

I wish to extend my deepest gratitude to you for awarding me your scholarship. It is an encouragement that means a great deal to me, and I promise to use it to further my education in the future.

I will be attending Stanford University this fall where I plan to major in biochemistry. I have always been fascinated by the nature of the various chemical reactions occurring within the human body, and I hope to enrich my knowledge in this field by taking related courses as well as taking a part in interesting research projects.

I would like to thank you again for awarding me with this special scholarship fund. It is a great and distinct honor to receive recognition from a Nobel Prize winner, and I sincerely appreciate your generosity. Thank you so much!

Just a note to say thank you so much.

Sincerely yours,
Barbara H Kuang