Salmonella nijordan

Dear Steve -

You have no idea how close to home your note was: thank you.

It's 40 years (God!) since we showed how to manufacture new serotypes.

The chance for economy (which we did not exercise) had the redeeming value of encouraging investigators to report their findings and add to our repertoire of natural history.

It was fun to get this. But I'll have to look up just what serotype S. nijordan is.

Yours,

Joshua
