Dear Dr Swan:

So, now it is 35 years, how quickly the time has passed. I know Dr Olivier has written about my bypass surgery. The last six months have been the worst I've ever known. I always said I would never have by pass surgery, but after 2 emergency angioplasties in 7 weeks I didn't have any choice. The pain before the angioplasty and after the surgery was really bad. The good news is I'm now feeling great. I tire easily and rest often, but no longer have any pain. In the past year I have lost 35 pounds and lowered my cholesterol from 286 to 150, triglycerides 960 to 190. I now eat right, exercise and with the surgery feel like a new person.

I talked with Dr. Richter monday and we are having lunch together today. He is doing fine and I look forward to seeing him. We talk on phone several time a year but I haven't seen him in 2 or 3 years.

Hope you are well and able to do whatever interest you at this time in life until next year.

Love,
Clarabell
