Dear Board Member,

I'm sorry about the delay in beginning my demands and naggings of you for book reviews, responses and elaborations but the recent budget crunch throughout publishing and advertising has slowed us up. McGraw-Hill is now soliciting advertising for the first issue, and the prospects are now more encouraging than ever since a major agency has become involved. I will be in touch with you soon as further developments occur.

We have tentatively decided on "Psychiatric Reviews -- a critical guide to the literature," as title. Any objections? We have tentatively scheduled the first issue to feature "Medicine and Psychiatry -- ~~C~~Using the Gap." Any suggestions.?

Best regards

P.S. I attach the final roster of the staff and board, all of whom have accepted in written response.
