Dear Dr. Leanderberg:

Thank you for your note of February 5 and the kind words about my piece in the Chronicle of Higher Education. The response has been gratifying.

Enclosed some pieces that may be of interest to you. More extensive treatments concerning intervention may be found in H. Bull, ed., Intervention in World Politics (1984); N. Ronzitti, Rescuing Nationals Abroad through Military Coercion and Intervention on Grounds of Humanity (1985); F. Teson, Humanitarian Intervention (1988); and R. Lillich, ed., Humanitarian Intervention and the United Nations (1973). Admittedly, these works in large part relate to legal aspects of intervention, as well as policy implications.

Incidentally, if the opportunity should present itself, I would certainly be willing to participate in and make a contribution to your international symposium on "Intervention."

In any event, many thanks again for your note, and best wishes in "catching up" on the policy and practice of international intervention. It is a constantly challenging and dynamic topic of international relations.

Dear Françoise -- This letter might be of special interest to M. Gemenek and yourself for the meeting April 7.

Very truly yours,

Christopher C. Joyner

* Hedley Bull is an especially astute scholar. I shall try to locate that book in particular.
