Dear Dr. Lederberg:

You are quite correct, I did do a review of the acridines which appeared in Medicine, Vol. 23, p. 79, 1944. Unfortunately, I have no reprints of this article and therefore cannot comply with your request. As you know, Dr. Adrien Albert recently wrote a book on this subject but then, clearly, I am proposing coal for Newcastle, in view of the presence in your group of Dr. Rubbo.

I do very much appreciate your willingness to exchange publications and with that thought in view, I am sending to you, under separate cover, a copy of "Biological Antagonism".

With all good wishes for the coming holiday season.

Sincerely yours,

Gustav J. Martin
