Professor Dr. J. Lederberg,
Department of Genetics,
University of Wisconsin,
Madison 6, Wisconsin,
U.S.A.

Dear Professor Lederberg;

I hope to be able to visit your country after the Congress of Genetics in Montreal during the autumn of this year. It would be a great pleasure to meet you then. I should appreciate very much if your kind agreement for my visit in your laboratory.

Be it possible I should suggest a month stay in your Department during September. I am greatly interested in your methods of research in the field of recombination and transduction in bacteria. My own experience in recombination is rather meagre. By the way - I have found that semi-permanent resistance to low concentration of streptomycin, induced by cooling, is not transferred during recombination. The high resistant mutants appearing later have on the other hand transmissible characters.

This my visit is planed with the help of the Rockefeller Foundation.

I will be very obliged to you for informing me whether my visit at suggested term may be approved by you.

With kindest regards,

sincerely Yours,

Dr. Wł. Kunicki-Goldfinger
