Dear Professor Lederberg:

I have been thinking about the possibility of organizing a conference on random networks for the summer of 1980. It would be interesting to bring together graph theorists, neurophysiologists, glass chemists, amorphous semiconductor people, polymer chemists, etc., for discussions on random nets as they are treated in each of these areas. Battelle Northwest might be a good setting for the meeting, but I have no committment to that location.

Would you be interested in participating, and would you or one of your colleagues care to help organize it? ✓

Sincerely,

Bruce
