Dear Josh:

May I share the enclosed with you? I will be talking to Arthur Gelb one of these days and have a number of ideas, such as:

- Where are the big gaps in the biomedical field today?
- Who holds the power in science?
- What is creativity in science and how can we detect it early? How to Succeed in Science.
- Why does it take so long for advances to occur, or at least to trickle down to health care delivery?

I have the feeling that the public would very much like to know your thinking on these, or other questions.

Determined!

Hope your shoulder is feeling better.

My best

Frankie
