Dear Josh,

I thought you would be interested in the attached note prepared by a research associate in the CHR.

Michael is getting the data for us from medical records to determine whether we can figure out how to classify the medical interventions in the hospital records for the births in the KP system. While he was waiting he decided to check the birthdays for the whole KP population as a test of the hypothesis that the births were equally distributed throughout the week prior to medical intervention.

I think you'll find the note interesting. More to follow.
