"Civility" ... Problem of Education

I shall need some time to establish a mindset compatible with your categories and to quit a proper response to yours of 2/22.

There are so many possible qualifications to advocacy e.g. of intervention that it misleading to describe people as + or - outside a well defined context.

On page 16 is closer to my view than on page 3. "Specific cases have to be very specific, and the alleged character of assistance carefully scrutinized. But if we give in to Soviet intervention, others will be still more helped in the long run."

DD is greatly deficient in the right of non-military responsibilities for (30) world order. Propositionally, they were not in its charter.
