Dear Lederberg,

I enclose a copy of my presidential address at this year's Nobel ceremony Dec. 10th. It was too tempting to use some quotations from our correspondence earlier this year. I have avoided everything which might give a clue to the identity of the writer.

I hope you do not mind.

I shall write you soon about the question referred to in Hedéns letter to you, Nov. 20.

Best wishes,

Sincerely,

Arne Tiselius
