

July 9, 1970

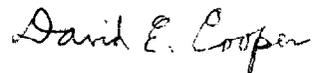

Mr. Joshua Lederberg
c/o The Washington Post
1515 L Street, N. W.
Washington, D.C. 20005

Dear Mr. Lederberg:

I was pleased to read your column of July 4, "Consumer Should Be on Par With Labor and Industry." It seems to me that, to compare the powers over production with the branches of government, one would have to call labor the executive, industry the legislature, and the consumer the judiciary of production. It seems important to me that the people retain ultimate control over these powers lest they take on a fascist form.

Leaving you with these thoughts, I am

Sincerely yours,

David E. Cooper

1310 Wertland Street
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903