

MAY 28 1970

MEMO FROM	TO:	TX
J. LEDERBERG		RC
GENETICS DEPARTMENT	Ambassador	RO
STANFORD UNIVERSITY	Leonard:
STANFORD, CALIFORNIA 94305	ACDA

Re: BW discussions at Geneva

One of the best sources of insight into the potentials of BW would be the molecular biologists and microbiologists working in each country, respectively.

If you can indicate which delegations might be best reached through this approach, I could be prepared with suggestions about particular scientists who could be consulted directly by them in their home countries -- needless to say without any prompting/ from us.

I should also mention that there will be considerable emphasis on BW control at the International Congress of Microbiology at Mexico City in mid-August. I will not be there myself; C.G. Heden (Stockholm) is playing a key part in organizing that. ~~IX~~ Please advise me if there are any problems in your dealing directly with people like Heden, or if there is any role I can usefully play.

I have a private line to both office and home, which please use freely at any hour, after say 7 AM Pacific Time.

(415)-321-2764

& my home address is

Dr. Joshua Lederberg
1464 PITMAN AVE.
PALO ALTO, CALIF. 94301

