

Memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

To: Mr. A.F. Neidle *
ACDA

World Health Cooperation

In view of the pressure of time, I did go to work last night for a first pass on various ideas --- not well thought out and too verbose in form --- to get to you more quickly. Rather than make a refining pass, I thought it might now be as well to get any feedback from you first. Unless I vehemently want to add or subtract something, then, I will wait to hear from you.

Ivan Bennett, now Dean at NYU Medical School, would be a very important point for further contact; I imagine he is still factored into the White House OST on these issues quite closely.

You may get a small trickle of supporting documents as I run them down.

"LIFE FOR PEACE"

FIG. 2.—The scheme of Watson and Crick for DNA replication. "Unwinding and replication proceed pari passu. All three arms of the Y rotate as indicated" (14).

adapted from

PROFESSOR JOSHUA LEDERBERG
Department of Genetics
School of Medicine
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305