Oct. 25, 1930

Dear Margaret,

I started my day by looking through the 72 pages of the N.Y. Times, which had been delivered at my door at 6 a.m. I'm glad it is not getting any larger than it is.

The city is very election conscious. There is apparently a Liberal party, cutting across the usual and running candidates like Lehman, Lecora, and Lynch.

Today I visited the library of the N.Y.C. and was shown things by longtime Whitman and Dr. Johnson, of rebels fame. Dr. Taylor was out of town and Dr. Heister had stayed home to work on his report on an African trip. All are much concerned over the future of the N.D. and the actions there.

Hotels STATLER in Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Washington
New York (Formerly Hotel Pennsylvania)  Pittsburgh, Hotel William Penn of the 22-man Committee, appointed its recommendation regarding its program.
I saw Dr. Kerr and Dr. Smithson also. All of them sent their regards to you.
I had lunch with Dr. Andrews, Warren, at the Rockefeller Foundation lunch room. And what a lunch!
To half a dozen blue points as at stateroom, with cocktail sauce, and a most delicious crumb fish cake.
By that time I was willing to drop with a slice of Dr. Balfour, Dr. Paul Russell, Dr. Grant, Dr. Hugh Smith, and Dr. Steele, and Miss Remnant at lunchroom — also Mr. van Waerff.
The book on yellow fever is a joint effort and was divided between all the people involved in yellow fever work,
and is already in the hands of the publisher.
This evening I went over to the Empire Central Station and had a real taste of that. It starts in my stomach and off my mind. Just love to you and Gertrude, Yours,
Helen.